VidNova Prompt Pack

Welcome to the VidNova Prompt Pack — 150 ready-to-use, policy-safe prompts for building a faceless YouTube channel with AI in 2026. Copy any prompt, replace the words in [BRACKETED CAPS] with your own details, and paste it into your AI tool of choice. Every prompt is designed to produce original work: it asks for a fresh angle, a personal insight, or a new example — never a copy, rewrite, or close paraphrase of another creator's video, script, or thumbnail. Use these prompts to research faster, script better, and publish consistently while keeping full creative ownership of everything you release.

Group 1 — Niche Research & Validation

P001 — Niche Profitability Reality Check

Act as a YouTube strategist. Evaluate the niche [NICHE] for a new faceless channel in 2026. Score it 1-10 on advertiser demand, evergreen potential, competition density, and production cost with AI tools. Add an original angle I could own that bigger channels are ignoring. End with a clear go / no-go verdict and why.

- Best for: Deciding before you commit 90 days to a niche.

P002 — Sub-Niche Finder

I want to enter [BROAD NICHE] but it feels too crowded. List 12 specific sub-niches underneath it, each with a defined audience, a typical video format, and one underserved viewer problem. For each, suggest an original positioning statement in one sentence that no major channel currently uses.

P003 — Audience Pain Point Map

For viewers interested in [TOPIC], map their top 15 pain points, fears, and unanswered questions. Group them into beginner, intermediate, and advanced. For each pain point, propose a video premise that solves it with a fresh insight or example I generate myself — not a summary of existing videos.

P004 — RPM and Monetization Estimator

Estimate the realistic CPM/RPM range for a faceless channel in [NICHE] targeting viewers in [COUNTRY/REGION] in 2026. Explain which sub-topics pull higher-value ads, which pull lower-value ads, and 3 original content angles that attract premium advertisers without misleading viewers.

P005 — Competition Gap Analysis

Analyze the competitive landscape for [NICHE] on YouTube. Without copying any channel, describe the common formats, average video length, and upload frequency of successful channels, then identify 5 content gaps — topics or formats viewers want that are poorly served. Propose an original series idea for each gap.

P006 — Evergreen vs Trend Balance Planner

For a channel in [NICHE], create a 70/30 content plan: 70% evergreen topics that will still get search traffic in 2 years, 30% timely topics. List 10 evergreen pillars and 5 trend formats, each with an original angle that adds my own insight instead of repeating news headlines.

P007 — Niche Validation Scorecard

Build me a validation scorecard to test [NICHE] in 14 days with 4 pilot videos. Define the exact metrics to watch (CTR, average view duration, returning viewers, comments per 1,000 views), the pass/fail thresholds for each, and how to interpret mixed results before I pivot or double down.

P008 — Viewer Avatar Builder

Create 3 detailed viewer avatars for a channel about [NICHE]. For each avatar include age range, job/life stage, what they watch at [TIME OF DAY], what frustrates them about current videos in this niche, and one original promise my channel can make that competitors do not.

P009 — Keyword Demand Checker

Give me 20 search-driven topic ideas in [NICHE] that a beginner would type into YouTube search. For each, estimate search intent (learn, compare, solve, be entertained), difficulty for a new channel, and an original twist that makes my version worth clicking over the top result.

P010 — Niche Longevity Forecast

Assess whether interest in [NICHE] will grow, plateau, or decline over the next 3 years. Cite the drivers behind your forecast — technology, demographics, regulation, culture — and recommend 3 future-proof content pillars I can build now with entirely original material.

P011 — Faceless Format Fit Test

For [NICHE], evaluate which faceless formats fit best: narration + stock footage, screen recording, animation, slideshow documentary, or data visualization. Rank them by retention potential, production speed, and policy safety. Recommend one primary format and explain the original voice/personality I should develop for it.

P012 — Channel Positioning Statement

Write 5 different one-sentence positioning statements for a faceless channel in [NICHE] aimed at [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Each must promise a specific transformation or insight, avoid hype and clickbait claims, and be distinct enough that a viewer could tell my channel apart from any other in 5 seconds.

P013 — Monetization Beyond AdSense

List 8 revenue streams beyond AdSense suitable for a faceless channel in [NICHE] — digital products, templates, affiliate offers, memberships, licensing, etc. For each, describe what original asset I need to create, the trust required from viewers, and a first low-effort version I can launch in 30 days.

P014 — Niche Risk Audit

Audit [NICHE] for YouTube policy and advertiser risks: reused content, misleading claims, sensitive topics, copyright traps, and demonetization triggers. For each risk, give a safe alternative approach that keeps the video valuable and fully original.

P015 — Cross-Niche Crossover Ideas

I run a channel in [NICHE A]. Suggest 7 crossover video concepts that borrow a proven format or curiosity driver from [NICHE B] without copying any specific video. Each concept must include the original insight that connects the two niches in a way viewers have not seen.

P016 — Beginner Barrier Breaker

List the 10 biggest reasons beginners quit in [NICHE] on YouTube within 90 days. For each reason, give a practical counter-strategy and one pilot video idea that tests demand while building a skill I will reuse for the next 100 videos.

P017 — Seasonal Calendar Mapper

Create a 12-month seasonal map for [NICHE]: which topics peak in which months, which holidays or events matter to this audience, and one original video idea per month that ties the season to an evergreen lesson so the video keeps working after the season ends.

P018 — Library Value Estimator

Explain how to judge whether a topic in [NICHE] has library value — will 50 videos on it compound into binge-watching sessions? Give me a scoring rubric, then score these 5 topics: [TOPIC 1], [TOPIC 2], [TOPIC 3], [TOPIC 4], [TOPIC 5], with an original series angle for the highest scorer.

P019 — Niche Entry Interview Simulator

Interview me as if you are a skeptical investor. Ask me 10 hard questions about entering [NICHE] — differentiation, skills, time, budget, and exit plan. After I answer, summarize my weakest answers and propose original strengths I should lean into based on my background: [MY BACKGROUND].

P020 — 100-Video Niche Depth Test

Can [NICHE] sustain 100 original videos without repetition? Prove it: outline 10 content pillars with 10 distinct video premises each. Every premise must require a new example, case, or insight — flag any pillar that runs dry before 10 and suggest a replacement.

Group 2 — Video Ideas & Outlier Research

P021 — Outlier Pattern Decoder

I noticed videos in [NICHE] that far outperform their channel average tend to share patterns. Describe 7 outlier patterns to look for — premise type, emotional driver, specificity, stakes — and for each, generate an original video idea for my channel that uses the pattern, not the topic, of any existing hit.

P022 — Idea Generator: Beginner Mistakes Angle

Generate 15 video ideas in [NICHE] built around beginner mistakes. Each idea must name the mistake, the cost of making it, and the original correction or framework I will teach. Avoid generic listicles — every idea needs a specific scenario a viewer can recognize from their own life.

P023 — Idea Generator: Data and Numbers Angle

Give me 15 video ideas in [NICHE] where a surprising number, statistic, or comparison is the core curiosity. For each, state the number I should research from primary sources, the misconception it challenges, and the original conclusion viewers will take away.

P024 — Idea Generator: History and Origins Angle

Suggest 12 video ideas exploring the history or origin story behind everyday things in [NICHE]. Each idea must start from a question viewers never thought to ask, and include an original connecting insight that links the past to a decision the viewer makes today.

P025 — Idea Generator: Myth-Busting Angle

List 12 widely believed myths in [NICHE]. For each myth, give the video premise, what evidence I should gather from credible sources to test it fairly, and an original verdict format — not just true/false, but the nuance viewers are missing.

P026 — Idea Generator: Comparison and Versus Angle

Create 15 versus-style video ideas in [NICHE]: [OPTION A] vs [OPTION B] style matchups my audience actually debates. For each, define fair judging criteria, the deciding factor most comparisons ignore, and an original recommendation framework based on viewer situation, not a universal winner.

P027 — Idea Generator: Case Study Angle

Propose 10 case-study video ideas in [NICHE] based on public, documented examples I can research from primary sources. Each idea needs a clear before/after, the turning point, and the original lesson I will extract that applies to my viewer's smaller-scale situation.

P028 — Idea Generator: Future Prediction Angle

Give me 12 future-focused video ideas in [NICHE] about what changes in the next [TIMEFRAME]. Each idea must be grounded in a current signal I can verify, include a best-case and worst-case scenario, and end with one original, actionable preparation step for viewers.

P029 — Idea Generator: Process and How-It-Works Angle

List 15 how-it-works video ideas in [NICHE] that reveal a hidden process viewers use but never see. For each, outline the 4-6 stages to visualize, the most surprising stage, and an original analogy that makes the process unforgettable.

P030 — Idea Generator: Money and Cost Angle

Generate 12 video ideas in [NICHE] centered on true costs — hidden fees, lifetime cost, opportunity cost, or cost of inaction. Each idea must include the calculation I should do on screen, the assumption most people get wrong, and an original takeaway that helps viewers decide, not just feel shocked.

P031 — Search-Autocomplete Idea Miner

Simulate YouTube autocomplete for [SEED KEYWORD]: give me 26 completions (A-Z style) real viewers might search. Turn the 10 strongest into video ideas, each with an original angle and a note on whether it suits search traffic, browse traffic, or both.

P032 — Comment-Mining Idea Extractor

Here are real comments from my own videos: [PASTE YOUR COMMENTS]. Extract the underlying questions, confusions, and requests. Turn them into 10 video ideas ranked by how many viewers likely share the question, each with an original answer direction I can develop from my own knowledge.

P033 — Series Architect

Design a bingeable 8-episode series for [NICHE] on the theme [THEME]. Each episode needs a standalone payoff plus an open loop into the next episode. All examples and stories must be original or drawn from public-domain / primary sources I research myself — give me the research task for each episode.

P034 — One Topic, Ten Angles

Take the topic [TOPIC]. Give me 10 completely different video angles on it: beginner guide, mistake breakdown, history, data deep-dive, comparison, prediction, case study, myth-bust, checklist, and contrarian take. Each angle needs its own original insight so the 10 videos never feel repetitive.

P035 — Contrarian Idea Lab

Generate 10 respectful contrarian video ideas in [NICHE] that challenge the standard advice: [STANDARD ADVICE]. For each, state the conventional wisdom, the overlooked evidence or edge case, and the original, more nuanced position I will defend — without attacking any specific creator.

P036 — Problem-First Idea Sprint

My audience's biggest current problem is [PROBLEM]. Generate 15 video ideas that attack this one problem from different directions — quick fix, root cause, prevention, tool, mindset, budget version, advanced version. Each idea must promise a different, specific outcome.

P037 — Idea Validation Checklist

Here are my 10 candidate video ideas: [LIST IDEAS]. Score each 1-5 on curiosity gap, audience size, originality, production effort, and evergreen life. Recommend the top 3 to film first and explain what original research or example each one needs before scripting.

P038 — Underserved Question Finder

Find 15 questions in [NICHE] that viewers ask in forums and comments but YouTube answers poorly — answers are outdated, vague, or sales-driven. For each, describe what a genuinely satisfying, original answer would include and what proof or demonstration I should create myself.

P039 — Format Mashup Inventor

Combine these two formats — [FORMAT A] and [FORMAT B] — into 8 hybrid video concepts for [NICHE]. For each hybrid, explain why the combination boosts retention, what the opening 30 seconds look like, and the original signature element that could become my channel's trademark.

P040 — 30-Day Idea Calendar

Build a 30-day idea calendar for a [UPLOAD FREQUENCY] faceless channel in [NICHE]. Mix search, browse, and series content. Every entry needs a working title, the core original insight, and the asset I need to prepare. Leave 4 slots as wildcards for timely topics and tell me what trigger should fill them.

Group 3 — Hooks & Full Scripts

P041 — 30-Second Retention Hook Writer

Write 5 different opening hooks (first 30 seconds, spoken aloud) for a video titled [TITLE] in [NICHE]. Each hook must open a curiosity loop, state the payoff, and promise an original insight viewers will not get elsewhere. No hype, no false claims. Label each hook by style: question, bold statement, story, stat, or mistake.

- Best for: Choosing your strongest cold open before scripting.

P042 — Full Script: Educational Explainer

Write a full [LENGTH]-minute faceless narration script on [TOPIC] for [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Structure: hook, promise, 3 main sections with original examples I can visualize, a mid-video pattern interrupt, recap, and soft call to action. Write in a conversational tone at a [GRADE LEVEL] reading level. Every example must be invented or generic — do not mirror any existing video.

P043 — Full Script: List Video With Depth

Write a script for " [NUMBER] [THINGS] " in [NICHE], but make each item carry a real insight, not filler. For each item: a one-line hook, a 60-90 second explanation with an original example, and a transition that teases the next item. Save the most surprising item for position [POSITION] and explain the retention logic.

P044 — Story-Driven Script Builder

Turn this factual topic — [TOPIC] — into a story-driven script using an original protagonist scenario I create: [SCENARIO]. Weave the facts into the character's decisions and setbacks. Hook in the first 15 seconds, raise stakes every 90 seconds, and land an ending that delivers both emotion and a practical takeaway.

P045 — Hook Repair Clinic

Here is my current opening: [PASTE HOOK]. Diagnose why viewers might click away — unclear payoff, slow setup, vague stakes, or no curiosity gap. Rewrite it 3 ways: shorter and punchier, more specific with numbers, and story-led. Keep my original claim accurate; do not exaggerate to fix retention.

P046 — Script Outline Before You Write

Before writing any script, build a detailed outline for a video on [TOPIC]: working title, core original insight, hook concept, section-by-section beats with timestamps for a [LENGTH]-minute video, visual idea per section, and the exact question the ending answers. Flag any section that needs research from primary sources.

P047 — Retention Beat Sheet

Create a retention beat sheet for a [LENGTH]-minute video on [TOPIC]. Mark what happens at 0:00, 0:30, every 60-90 seconds after, and the final 30 seconds. Include open loops, payoffs, pattern interrupts, and re-hooks. Every beat must add new information — no padding or repeated phrasing.

P048 — Beginner-Friendly Script Simplifier

Rewrite this draft script for true beginners in [NICHE]: [PASTE SCRIPT]. Replace jargon with plain language, add an original analogy for each technical concept, and insert a "so that means..." recap after each section. Keep all facts accurate and keep my original examples.

P049 — Expert-Level Deep Dive Script

Write a [LENGTH]-minute advanced script on [TOPIC] for experienced viewers in [NICHE]. Assume baseline knowledge, go straight to nuance, trade-offs, and edge cases. Include at least 2 original frameworks or decision rules I am introducing, and a section honestly covering where the evidence is still uncertain.

P050 — Script With Built-In Proof Moments

Write a script on [TOPIC] where every major claim is paired with a proof moment: a calculation, a demonstration, a primary-source quote, or a before/after I create myself. Structure it so proof appears at least every 2 minutes. List the assets I need to produce for each proof moment.

P051 — Two-Voice Dialogue Script

Write a faceless two-voice script on [TOPIC]: Voice A asks the questions a skeptical viewer would ask, Voice B answers with evidence and original examples. [LENGTH] minutes, natural interruptions, one genuine disagreement resolved by evidence, and an ending where Voice A summarizes what changed their mind.

P052 — Case-Study Narrative Script

Write a narrative script reconstructing this documented case: [CASE]. Use only facts I can verify from [SOURCES I WILL CHECK]. Build it as setup, decision point, turning point, outcome, and the original lesson for my audience. Mark every place where I must verify a date, number, or quote before recording.

P053 — Tutorial Script With Checkpoints

Write a step-by-step tutorial script teaching [SKILL/TASK] in [LENGTH] minutes. After each step, add a checkpoint line telling viewers what they should see if it worked, plus the most common mistake at that step and its fix. End with an original shortcut or pro tip that is mine to give, not a copied tip.

P054 — Myth vs Fact Script Structure

Write a script testing [NUMBER] myths about [TOPIC]. For each myth: state it fairly, present the strongest evidence on both sides, then deliver a nuanced verdict with a confidence level. Open with the myth most viewers believe, close with an original rule of thumb that replaces all the myths.

P055 — Comparison Script With Fair Criteria

Write a balanced comparison script: [OPTION A] vs [OPTION B] for [AUDIENCE/USE CASE]. Define 5 judging criteria up front, score both honestly, and end with a situation-based recommendation — who should pick which, and why. Include one original criterion most comparisons overlook.

P056 — History Documentary Script

Write a [LENGTH]-minute mini-documentary script on the history of [SUBJECT]. Chronological spine, human moments, and at least 3 "most people don't know" facts I will verify from primary sources. Close by connecting the history to an original insight about what it predicts for the future of [NICHE].

P057 — Data Story Script

I have this data: [PASTE DATA OR DESCRIBE DATASET]. Write a script that turns it into a story: the question, the surprising pattern, the explanation, the exception that breaks the pattern, and the original conclusion. Write the on-screen chart descriptions so a viewer who never sees the raw data still follows the argument.

P058 — FAQ Script From Real Questions

Write a script answering these real questions from my audience: [LIST 5-7 QUESTIONS]. Order them for retention, not importance — open with the most surprising answer. Each answer must include an original example or demonstration. Close by teasing the one related question I will answer in the next video: [NEXT TOPIC].

P059 — Script Tightener: Cut 30 Percent

Edit this script down by 30% without losing meaning: [PASTE SCRIPT]. Cut repetition, throat-clearing, and restated points. Tighten every sentence. Preserve my original examples and voice. Deliver the edited script plus a short list of what you cut and why.

P060 — Voice and Tone Calibrator

Here is a sample of narration I like from my own drafts: [PASTE MY SAMPLE]. Analyze its sentence length, energy, humor level, and vocabulary. Then rewrite this new section — [PASTE SECTION] — to match that voice exactly, keeping all content original to my channel.

P061 — Hook Bank for One Topic

For the single topic [TOPIC], write a bank of 20 one-to-two-sentence hooks, each using a different device: question, number, mistake, secret process, before/after, prediction, myth, cost, story, comparison, challenge, confession, timeline, what-if, warning, discovery, rule, exception, shortcut, and stakes. All claims must stay accurate and deliverable.

P062 — Mid-Video Re-Hook Generator

My video on [TOPIC] loses viewers around the [TIMESTAMP] mark where I cover [SECTION]. Write 5 re-hook lines I can insert just before that section — each reopens curiosity by promising a payoff, a surprise, or a mistake reveal, without lying about what is coming next.

P063 — Ending That Drives the Next Click

Write 5 endings for my video on [TOPIC] that close the current promise completely, then open a natural loop into my next video on [NEXT TOPIC]. No cliffhanger cheating: the viewer must feel satisfied first. Include one version optimized for a pinned comment and end screen instead of narration.

P064 — Script From My Own Notes

Turn my rough notes into a structured faceless script: [PASTE NOTES]. Keep every idea mine — organize, expand with connective narration, and add original transitions and examples where my notes are thin. Mark with [VERIFY] any factual claim that needs a source check before I record.

P065 — Short-Form to Long-Form Expander

Here is a Short that performed well for me: [PASTE MY SHORT SCRIPT]. Expand its core original insight into a [LENGTH]-minute long-form script. Add depth, evidence, and examples the Short had no room for. Do not pad — every new section must answer a question the Short raised but could not answer.

P066 — Series Episode Script Template

Create a reusable script template for my series [SERIES NAME] in [NICHE]: cold open formula, intro promise, 3-act body, recurring segment, and outro. Then fill the template with a complete original script for episode one on [EPISODE TOPIC] so I can see the template working.

P067 — Sensitive Topic Script, Safely

Write a script on the sensitive but important topic [TOPIC] in a policy-safe, advertiser-friendly way. Use accurate, non-graphic language, present multiple perspectives fairly, avoid medical/financial overclaiming, and include a natural place for a disclaimer. The insight must be original and genuinely helpful, not shock-driven.

P068 — Script With Visual Directions

Write a full script on [TOPIC] in a two-column format: narration on the left, visual direction on the right (stock footage search terms, on-screen text, chart, or animation idea per line). Visuals must be licensable or self-created — specify which for each beat. Target length [LENGTH] minutes.

P069 — Prediction Script With Accountability

Write a script making a falsifiable prediction about [NICHE]: [MY PREDICTION]. Structure: current signals, my reasoning, what would prove me wrong, a confidence percentage, and a date I will revisit it. This accountability format is the original angle — help me phrase it so it builds trust whether I am right or wrong.

P070 — Call-to-Action Script Library

Write 12 short, non-pushy calls to action for a faceless channel in [NICHE], each tied to the video's value: subscribe for a specific series, comment with a specific answer, watch a named next video, download my original [LEAD MAGNET]. Vary length and placement: opening, mid-roll, and ending versions.

Group 4 — Titles That Earn the Click

P071 — Title Generator: Core Set of 20

Generate 20 title options for a video about [TOPIC] aimed at [AUDIENCE]. Mix formulas: question, number, mistake, how-it-works, comparison, and curiosity gap. Every title must be accurate to a video I can actually deliver, and at least 5 must foreground my original angle: [MY ANGLE]. Keep each under 55 characters where possible.

P072 — Title Repair for a Flop

My video titled "[CURRENT TITLE]" about [TOPIC] got a [CTR]% CTR. Diagnose 3 likely title problems, then write 12 replacements across different strategies — specificity, stakes, audience call-out, and curiosity. Do not copy the title style of any specific competitor; explain the psychology behind your top 3 picks.

P073 — Search Title vs Browse Title Split

For [TOPIC], write two title sets: 8 optimized for YouTube search (keyword-first, clear intent match) and 8 optimized for browse/suggested (curiosity-first, emotional driver). Label the traffic source for each and recommend which set fits a channel with [SUBSCRIBER COUNT] subscribers.

P074 — Number and Specificity Titles

Write 15 titles on [TOPIC] where a specific number does the heavy lifting — a count, a cost, a timeframe, a percentage, or a measurement I will verify. Each title must pair the number with a consequence or surprise, and include a note on what I must show in the video to keep the title honest.

P075 — Mistake and Warning Titles

Generate 15 titles built on mistakes, warnings, and "stop doing this" energy for [NICHE]. Each must name a real, specific mistake my audience makes about [SUBTOPIC], phrase it without fear-mongering or false claims, and imply the correct alternative the video will teach.

P076 — Question Titles That Mirror Search

Write 15 question-format titles for [NICHE] phrased exactly as a [TARGET AUDIENCE] viewer would ask a smart friend — not keyword-stuffed. Cover why, how, what happens if, is it worth it, and when questions. Rank them by likely search volume versus browse appeal.

P077 — Title A/B Testing Pair Designer

For my video on [TOPIC], create 6 A/B test pairs (12 titles). Each pair should test one variable only: with/without number, question vs statement, broad vs niche audience, positive vs negative framing. Tell me what result would prove each variable matters for my channel.

P078 — Evergreen Title Refresh

Here are 10 titles from my older videos that still get views: [LIST TITLES]. Rewrite each for 2026 browse traffic without changing the video's actual content or making claims the video does not support. Flag any title where a refresh would be misleading and should be left alone.

P079 — Series Title System

Design a consistent title system for an 8-part series on [THEME]. Each title must work standalone for a cold viewer, signal it belongs to the series, and escalate curiosity across episodes. Provide the full set plus the naming rule I should reuse for season two.

P080 — Contrarian Title Set

Write 12 contrarian titles challenging the standard take on [TOPIC] in [NICHE]. Each title must reflect a position I can genuinely defend with evidence in the video — contrarian about the idea, never dishonest about the facts. Include a one-line note on the defense each title requires.

P081 — Audience Call-Out Titles

Generate 15 titles that name the exact viewer: "If You [SITUATION]..." style for topics in [NICHE]. Vary the call-outs by life stage, budget, experience level, and goal from this list: [AUDIENCE SEGMENTS]. Each title must promise a payoff specific to that segment, not generic advice.

P082 — Title Length and Truncation Checker

Review these draft titles: [LIST TITLES]. For each, show how it reads when truncated on mobile (about 40 characters) and on TV/browse. Rewrite any title whose meaning or hook dies when truncated, front-loading the curiosity element while keeping the full title accurate.

P083 — Emotional Driver Title Lab

For [TOPIC], write 3 titles per emotional driver — curiosity, relief, ambition, fear of loss, surprise, and belonging (18 total). Every title must be deliverable and honest. Then recommend which driver fits my audience of [AUDIENCE DESCRIPTION] and why, based on the problems they face.

P084 — Bilingual / Localized Title Adapter

Adapt these titles for viewers in [REGION] who speak [LANGUAGE]: [LIST TITLES]. Translate the curiosity and stakes, not just the words — adjust cultural references, number formats, and idioms. Provide the localized title plus a note on what changed and why. Keep every claim identical in meaning.

P085 — Title From the Comment Section

Here is what my viewers actually say: [PASTE COMMENTS]. Turn their exact frustrations and phrasing into 12 title ideas for future videos in [NICHE]. Each title should feel like it was written for the commenter, and each must be paired with an original video premise — not a reaction to any other creator.

P086 — No-Clickbait Integrity Check

Score these titles for clickbait risk: [LIST TITLES]. For each, rate the gap between promise and likely delivery, flag any exaggeration, missing context, or misleading implication, and rewrite risky ones to keep the curiosity but restore full honesty.

P087 — First-Video Title Strategy

I am launching a faceless channel in [NICHE] with zero subscribers. Write 10 titles for my first 3 videos that balance search discoverability for a cold channel with enough curiosity to win browse later. Explain the sequencing logic and what original insight each first video must contain to earn subscribers.

P088 — Title + First Line Pairing

For [TOPIC], give me 10 title + opening-line pairs where the first spoken line pays off the title's promise within 10 seconds and immediately opens a second loop. The pairing is what retains viewers — make sure no pair repeats the title word-for-word as the opening line.

P089 — Seasonal Title Variants

Take my evergreen video topic [TOPIC] and write title variants for 6 seasonal moments in [NICHE]: New Year, tax season, summer, back-to-school, Black Friday, and year-end — or the equivalents for this niche. Each variant must reflect a real seasonal angle in the content, not just a seasonal word swap.

P090 — Title Portfolio Balancer

Here are my next 12 planned titles: [LIST TITLES]. Audit the portfolio: too many questions? Too many negatives? All aimed at beginners? Rebalance it — rewrite up to 5 titles so the set covers mixed formats, mixed audience levels, and mixed emotional drivers while keeping every title true to its video.

Group 5 — SEO Descriptions, Chapters & Pinned Comments

P091 — Full SEO Description Writer

Write a complete YouTube description for my video on [TOPIC]. Structure: a 2-sentence hook summary with the main keyword [KEYWORD] in the first line, a 150-word value summary written in my own words, chapters placeholder, 3 related-video prompts, and relevant links section. Original copy only — no borrowed descriptions. Naturally include [SECONDARY KEYWORDS] without stuffing.

P092 — Chapter Timestamp Builder

Here is my script with section breaks: [PASTE SCRIPT]. Build chapter timestamps for a [LENGTH]-minute video. Chapter titles must be benefit-driven and searchable (4-7 words), the first chapter starts at 00:00, and each title should make a skimmer want to stay. Add a note if any section is too short to deserve a chapter.

P093 — Pinned Comment Engagement Engine

Write 8 pinned comment options for my video on [TOPIC]. Vary the mechanic: a genuine either/or question, a fill-in-the-blank, a "what did I miss" invitation, a timestamped highlight, and a next-video vote. Each must relate to my original content, invite real discussion, and avoid engagement-bait phrasing YouTube penalizes.

P094 — Description First-100-Words Optimizer

Rewrite just the opening 100 words of this description: [PASTE OPENING]. This is the part that shows in search and above the fold. Front-load the viewer's outcome, the main keyword [KEYWORD], and my original angle, in natural language a human enjoys reading — not a keyword list.

P095 — Keyword Cluster Mapper

Build a keyword cluster for [NICHE]: one pillar keyword, 5 mid-tail clusters, and 5 long-tail phrases per cluster. For each long-tail phrase, suggest the video that should own it and where the phrase belongs — title, description, chapters, or tags. All suggestions must map to original videos I will create.

P096 — Tags Set Generator (Strategic, Not Stuffed)

Generate a focused tag set (under 450 characters total) for a video on [TOPIC]. Prioritize: exact topic phrase, 3 close variants, 2 broader niche phrases, 1 series name [SERIES NAME], and common misspellings worth capturing. Explain why tags matter less than title/description and what not to waste characters on.

P097 — Playlist Description Writer

Write SEO descriptions for a 5-playlist architecture for my [NICHE] channel. Each playlist description (60-90 words) must define who it is for, the transformation it delivers in order, and use its cluster keywords naturally. Include a viewing-order note that turns the playlist into a binge path.

P098 — End Screen and Cards Copy

Plan the end screen and 2 mid-video cards for my video on [TOPIC]. Write the exact on-screen text and the spoken line that introduces each element, pointing to my videos on [NEXT VIDEO A] and [NEXT VIDEO B]. The logic must be viewer-benefit ("if X confused you, watch Y"), never generic "check this out."

P099 — Description Template System

Create a reusable description template for my channel in [NICHE] with clearly marked fill-in sections: hook summary, what you will learn, chapters, resources, series links, about the channel (2 original sentences), and socials. Then demonstrate it filled in completely for a sample video on [SAMPLE TOPIC].

P100 — Multilingual Description Adapter

Adapt this description for my [LANGUAGE]-speaking audience in [REGION]: [PASTE DESCRIPTION]. Localize idioms, examples, units, and cultural references while keeping keywords that viewers actually search in that language. Provide the adapted text plus a short list of localization choices you made.

P101 — Search Intent Match Auditor

Audit this title + description pair against search intent: [PASTE TITLE AND DESCRIPTION]. Does a viewer searching [QUERY] get exactly what the first 30 seconds and first 100 words promise? Score the match, identify drift, and rewrite the opening lines so search traffic stays instead of bouncing.

P102 — Community-Tab SEO Crossover

Turn my video on [TOPIC] into 3 description cross-promotions: a line for my older related video [OLD VIDEO] that now points forward, a line for the new video pointing back, and a Community post draft that ties them together. All copy original, benefit-led, and free of link-spam phrasing.

P103 — Accessibility-Boosting Description Add-Ons

Enhance this description with accessibility and clarity elements: [PASTE DESCRIPTION]. Add a plain-language summary for non-native speakers, a "who this video is NOT for" honesty line, a key terms glossary (5 terms), and a note on caption availability. Keep total length reasonable and skimmable.

P104 — Hashtag Strategy (3 Max, Done Right)

Choose the only 3 hashtags worth using for my video on [TOPIC] in [NICHE] and justify each: one topic, one audience/use-case, one series or brand tag. Explain when hashtags help discovery, when they are decoration, and which overused tags in this niche to avoid.

P105 — Metadata Refresh Plan for Old Videos

Here are 10 underperforming older videos with their current titles and stats: [LIST TITLES + VIEWS/CTR]. Create a metadata-only refresh plan — new description openings, chapter additions, and pinned comment ideas for each — without changing any video's content or making claims the original video does not support.

Group 6 — Thumbnail Concepts & Text

P106 — Thumbnail Concept Generator (Original Designs)

Generate 8 original thumbnail concepts for a video titled [TITLE]. For each: main visual, background treatment, focal point, color palette, facial/object substitute for a faceless channel, and 2-4 words of thumbnail text. Every concept must be an original composition — describe ideas, do not imitate any specific channel's thumbnail.

P107 — Thumbnail Text Lab (Under 4 Words)

Write 20 thumbnail text options for [TITLE], each 1-4 words maximum, readable at phone size. Vary the device: question, number, stakes, contrast, unfinished phrase. Pair each text with the visual it needs to make sense, and flag any text that overpromises versus the video.

P108 — Faceless Thumbnail Focal Objects

My channel is faceless in [NICHE]. List 15 high-impact focal objects, symbols, charts, or scenes that can carry a thumbnail without a face — each with the emotion or curiosity it triggers and the topic type it suits. Include guidance on building a recognizable visual identity from 2-3 recurring elements.

P109 — Color and Contrast Thumbnail System

Design a thumbnail color system for my [NICHE] channel: 2 primary palettes (one for educational, one for story content), background rules, text color and outline specs, and what to avoid so thumbnails stay distinct from the dominant look in my niche without becoming unreadable.

P110 — Before/After and Split Concepts

Create 8 split-screen or before/after thumbnail concepts for videos in [NICHE] about transformation or comparison. Each concept must represent a contrast the video genuinely shows — state what proof appears on each side so the thumbnail stays honest. Include text options under 3 words.

P111 — Thumbnail A/B Variant Designer

For this concept — [DESCRIBE CONCEPT] — design 3 testable variants that change one variable each: background color, focal object scale, and text wording. Explain what viewer behavior each variant is betting on and how I should judge the winner beyond raw CTR.

P112 — Curiosity Gap Without Deception Check

Review these thumbnail concepts: [LIST CONCEPTS]. For each, rate the curiosity gap 1-10 and the deception risk 1-10. Rewrite any concept with deception risk above 3 so the curiosity survives but a viewer who clicks feels the thumbnail was fair after watching.

P113 — Thumbnail for Search vs Browse

For [TOPIC], design 2 thumbnail directions: one for search (literal, keyword-matching, instantly clear) and one for browse (curiosity-led, minimal context). Explain when my channel at [SUBSCRIBER COUNT] subscribers should favor each, and what text length works for each surface.

P114 — Number-Led Thumbnail Concepts

Create 8 thumbnail concepts where a large number is the hero visual for videos in [NICHE]: a cost, a count, a percentage, a timeframe. For each, state the number I must verify, the object or scene behind it, and the 2-word text that completes the thought the title starts.

P115 — Minimalist Thumbnail Set

Design 6 deliberately minimalist thumbnails for [NICHE] — one object, one background color, max 3 words. Minimalism only works with instant clarity, so for each concept explain the recognition test: what a viewer must understand in under 1 second while scrolling.

P116 — Series Thumbnail Template

Create a thumbnail template system for my series [SERIES NAME]: fixed elements (badge, color band, episode number treatment), variable elements per episode, and 4 filled examples for episodes on [EP TOPICS]. The system must let returning viewers spot the series instantly while each thumbnail still works for strangers.

P117 — Thumbnail Repair for Low CTR

My thumbnail for "[TITLE]" — described here: [DESCRIBE THUMBNAIL] — earned [CTR]% CTR. Diagnose the 3 most likely problems (clutter, weak focal point, text overload, low contrast, unclear promise) and redesign it 3 ways, each fixing a different primary problem with an original composition.

P118 — Object + Emotion Pairing Matrix

Build a pairing matrix for faceless thumbnails in [NICHE]: rows are 8 viewer emotions (curiosity, relief, ambition, alarm, surprise, pride, confusion, hope), columns are object/scene, color, and text style. Fill it so I can design any future thumbnail by picking the emotion my title targets.

P119 — Competitor-Distinct Visual Identity

Without copying or closely referencing any channel, describe the generic visual sameness in [NICHE] thumbnails — common colors, layouts, and clichés. Then propose 3 distinct visual identity directions for my channel that deliberately break the pattern while staying genre-legible, with pros and cons of each.

P120 — Thumbnail Pre-Publish Checklist Scorer

Score this thumbnail concept against a pre-publish checklist: [DESCRIBE CONCEPT + TITLE PAIR]. Check mobile legibility, single focal point, text under 4 words, title-thumbnail complement (not duplication), honesty, contrast in both light and dark mode, and series consistency. Give a pass/fix verdict per item.

Group 7 — Shorts Scripts & Hooks

P121 — 30-Second Short Script: One Insight

Write a vertical Short script (under 130 spoken words) delivering exactly one original insight about [TOPIC]. Hook in the first 2 seconds, one supporting example, and a closing line that makes the viewer rethink something. Write the on-screen text for the first frame and the loop point where the ending connects back to the start.

P122 — Short Hook Bank: 15 Openers

Write 15 first-line hooks for Shorts in [NICHE], each under 8 words, each using a different device — mistake, number, question, warning, secret process, comparison, prediction. Every hook must be a claim I can fully pay off in under 45 seconds; flag any that cannot be.

P123 — Long Video to Shorts Extractor

Here is my long-form script: [PASTE MY SCRIPT]. Extract 5 standalone Shorts from it — each must make complete sense alone, credit no one else's work, and end with a reason to watch the full video that is about added depth, not withheld answers. Give hook, body, and caption for each.

P124 — Shorts Series Designer

Design a 10-part Shorts series on [THEME] for [NICHE], each under 45 seconds, each teaching one original micro-lesson. Include the recurring opening device that makes the series recognizable, how each episode teases the next without clickbait, and which episode should be pinned to the series playlist.

P125 — Myth-in-30-Seconds Script

Write a Short script busting one myth: [MYTH]. Format: state the myth as viewers believe it (hook), the 2 fastest pieces of counter-evidence, and a nuanced verdict line. Add the pinned comment I should post to invite viewers who disagree to share their experience respectfully.

P126 — Shorts Script: Mistake and Fix

Write a Short built on the mistake/fix format for [NICHE]: open on the mistake in action ("Stop doing [X]..."), show the cost in one line, demonstrate the fix with an original example, close with the rule of thumb. Under 140 words, with captions text and a description of the visuals per beat.

P127 — Data-Point Short Script

Turn this single verified data point — [DATA POINT + SOURCE I CHECKED] — into a Short script. Hook with the number, give the context most people miss, add one original implication for my viewer, and end with a question that starts a real comment thread. Include the on-screen chart or visual to show.

P128 — Shorts Retention Rewrite

Here is my Short script that viewers leave at second 8: [PASTE SCRIPT]. Diagnose the dropout point, then rewrite it with a mid-Short re-hook, faster payoff ordering, and a loopable ending. Keep my original content and claims identical — fix structure and pacing only.

P129 — Trending Format, Original Content Adapter

Describe how to use the general format trend [FORMAT TREND, e.g. "ranking things in 30 seconds"] for [NICHE] with entirely original content. Write 3 example scripts in that format using my own topics and opinions, and note where the line is between using a format and copying a specific creator's video.

P130 — Shorts Hook + Title + Caption Trio

For the topic [TOPIC], create 8 complete Short packages: spoken hook (line 1), on-screen title text, and a 2-line caption with one relevant hashtag set (max 3). Each package must target a different viewer situation in [NICHE] so the 8 Shorts never cannibalize each other.

P131 — Question-Answer Short From My Comments

A viewer asked: "[PASTE VIEWER QUESTION FROM MY COMMENTS]". Write a Short script answering it directly — hook repeats the question in punchier form, answer includes one original example and one caveat, ending invites the follow-up question. Also write my reply comment linking this Short when it posts.

P132 — 7-Day Shorts Sprint Plan

Plan 7 Shorts for one week in [NICHE], one per format: insight, myth, mistake, data, comparison, story, checklist. Give each a hook, a one-line original angle, and the asset I need. End with how to judge the week: which metrics decide which format becomes my twice-weekly staple.

P133 — Silent-Viewer Short Script (Captions First)

Write a Short on [TOPIC] designed to work with sound off: the full story must read through on-screen text alone (max 55 words of caption text, chunked by beat), with narration as a bonus layer. Specify each text card, its timing, and the visual behind it.

P134 — Shorts-to-Community Funnel Script

Write a Short on [TOPIC] whose genuine purpose is starting a conversation: teach one original, slightly debatable framework, end by asking viewers to apply it to their situation in the comments, and give me the follow-up Community poll that continues the thread the next day.

P135 — Evergreen Shorts Library Builder

List 20 evergreen Short premises for [NICHE] that will still be accurate and useful in 2 years — no news, no trends, no expiring claims. For each, give the hook line and the original micro-insight. Mark the 5 best suited to become pinned entry points for new subscribers.

Group 8 — Community Posts & Outreach

P136 — Community Poll That Teaches

Write 6 Community poll posts for [NICHE] where the poll itself teaches something: the question exposes a misconception, and my follow-up comment (include it) reveals the original insight behind the correct or most interesting answer. Vary formats: either/or, 4-option quiz, this-or-that scenario.

P137 — Community Post: Behind the Research

Write 4 "behind the research" Community posts for my faceless channel: an interesting source I found, a fact that did not fit the video, a chart I made, a question I am still unsure about. Each post builds trust by showing original work, and ends with a question that feeds my next video's research.

P138 — Weekly Community Content Calendar

Build a 4-week Community tab calendar for a [NICHE] channel posting [X] times per week: mix polls, image posts, video teases, viewer questions, and milestone thanks. Every entry needs the full draft text and its purpose — retention, research, loyalty, or discovery — with no engagement-bait phrasing.

P139 — Video Teaser Post (No Clickbait)

Write 5 Community teaser posts for my upcoming video on [TOPIC]. Each teases a different element — the question, the surprising finding, the original framework, the case I examined, the viewer benefit — without revealing the payoff or using hype. Include the best posting time logic relative to the video launch.

P140 — Viewer Question Harvest Post

Write 3 Community posts designed to harvest genuine viewer questions in [NICHE] for future videos: one open-ended, one "help me decide what to research," one scenario-based ("what would you do if..."). Include my plan for crediting question-askers in the videos (first name + question on screen, with permission).

P141 — Milestone Thank-You Post Writer

Write a milestone post for reaching [MILESTONE] that is specific, not generic: name what the audience taught me, share one real stat from my channel's journey, credit the series or video they made succeed, and announce the original project their feedback inspired. Draft versions for 1K, 10K, and 100K subscribers.

P142 — Collaboration Outreach Email (Peer Channel)

Write a collaboration outreach message to a peer faceless channel in [ADJACENT NICHE] at a similar size. It must lead with a specific, original collab idea that benefits their audience, reference a genuine strength of theirs in general terms, propose a low-effort first step, and contain zero flattery templates or mass-email signals. Under 150 words.

P143 — Guest Expert Outreach Script

Write an outreach message inviting an expert in [FIELD] to answer 3 questions for my video on [TOPIC] (async, by text or voice note — no live call needed). Explain my channel, the exact questions, how they will be credited, and that they can review their quotes. Professional, brief, and easy to say yes to.

P144 — Affiliate / Sponsor Response Templates

Write 3 reply templates for inbound offers: (1) interested — ask about terms, fit, and disclosure; (2) polite decline for poor audience fit in [NICHE]; (3) counter-proposal suggesting my original integration idea instead of a scripted ad read. Each template protects viewer trust and states my policy on honest reviews.

P145 — Comment Reply Playbook

Write reply templates for the 8 comment types I get most: genuine question, disagreement, correction (where the viewer is right), praise, request for a topic, "what tool do you use," beginner overwhelm, and spam-adjacent self-promo. Each reply must sound human, advance the conversation, and never copy a stock phrase twice across templates.

P146 — Community Post: Original Resource Drop

Write a Community post sharing a free original resource I made for [NICHE] — [RESOURCE, e.g. checklist/template]. The post must explain who it helps, how to use it in 3 steps, and one limitation honestly stated. Include the follow-up question that turns downloaders into a discussion thread.

P147 — Debate-Starter Post (Respectful by Design)

Write 4 debate-starter Community posts on genuinely open questions in [NICHE]: [QUESTION EXAMPLES]. Each post presents two fair sides, states my current lean and why it might be wrong, and sets a one-line ground rule for comments. The goal is insight exchange that gives me original material for a follow-up video.

P148 — Cross-Platform Repurpose Plan

Create a plan to repurpose one video on [TOPIC] into: a Community post, a Short, an image carousel post, and a short text post for [PLATFORM]. Each version must be native to its format with an original hook — not the same caption pasted everywhere. Include the posting sequence over 5 days.

P149 — Lapsed Viewer Win-Back Post

Write 3 Community posts aimed at subscribers who have not watched in months: one resurfacing my best evergreen video [VIDEO] with a new reason to watch now, one "start here" path through my series, and one honest "what changed on this channel" update. Warm, specific, zero guilt-tripping.

P150 — Monthly Audience Survey Post

Write a monthly survey Community post (plus a 5-question form outline) that asks my [NICHE] audience what to make next, what format length they prefer, and what problem they want solved. Include how I will report results back and turn the winning topic into an original video with the voters credited in the description.
